AN

Astrologer

I<sup>2</sup>s one that expounds upon the Planets, and teaches to conftrue the Accidents by the due joining of Stars in Confruction. He talks with them by dumb Signs, and can tell what they mean by their twinckling, and fquinting upon one another, as well as they themfelves. He is a Spy upon the Stars, and can tell what they are doing, by the Company they keep, and the Houfes they frequent. They have no Power to do any Thing alone, until fo many meet, as will make a Quorum. He is Clerk of the Committee to them, and draws up all their Orders, that concern either public or private Affairs. He keeps all their Accompts for them, and fums them up, not by Debtor, but by Creditor alone, a more compendious Way. They do ill to make them have fo much Authority over the Earth, which, perhaps, has as much as any one of them but the Sun, and as much Right to fit and vote in their Councils, as any other : But becaufe there are but feven Electors of the German Empire, they will allow of no more to difpofe of all other ; and moft foolifhly and unnaturally depose their own Parent of its Inheritance; rather than acknowledge a Defect in their own Rules. These Rules are all they have to shew for their Title ; and yet not one of them can tell whether those they had them from came honestly by them. Virgil's Description of Fame, that reaches from Earth to the Stars, tam ficti pravique tenax, to carry Lies and Knavery, will serve Astrologers without any sensible Variation. He is a Fortune-Seller, a Retailer of Destiny, and petty Chapman to the Planets. He casts Nativities as Gamesters do false Dice, and by flurring and palming sextile, quartile, and trine, like five, quater, trois, can throw what chance he pleases. He sets a Figure, as Cheats do a Main at Hazard ; and Gulls throw away their Money at it. He fetches the Grounds of his Art so far off, as well from Reason, as the Stars, that, like a Traveller, he is allowed to lye by Authority. And as Beggars, that have no Money themselves, believe all others have, and beg of those, that have as little as themselves : So the ignorant Rabble believe in him, though he has no more Reason for what he professes, than they.
